Hashmina M. Dimalna

Dr. Hashmina M. Dimalna, CPA (also referred to in some university communications as Hashmina Dimalna Dipatuan) is a Filipino academic administrator and certified public accountant who currently serves as Assistant Vice President for Academic Affairs of the Mindanao State University (MSU) System, based at the Main Campus in Marawi City, Lanao del Sur.

For someone who has spent more than 25 years working inside one institution, her story is really the story of MSU itself: steady, understated, and built on doing the unglamorous work that keeps a university running.

Overview

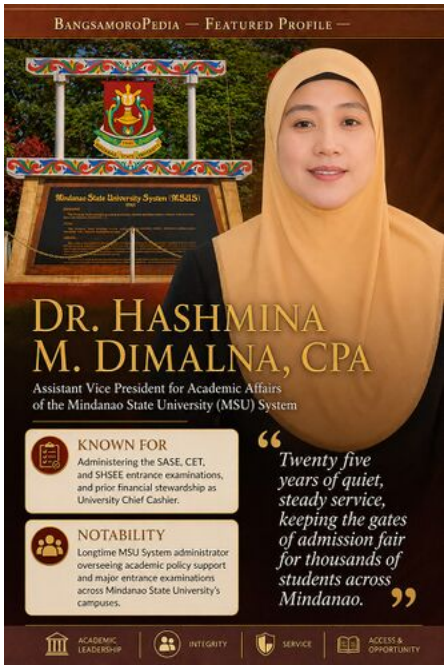

Dimalna holds the professional designation of CPA, alongside a Doctor in Management degree, which is sometimes styled as DM or Ph.D. in university listings. Official MSU directories place her among the senior administrators working directly under the MSU System President's office.

Earlier institutional handbooks list her under a different title altogether: University Chief Cashier, back when she carried an MPA credential. It's the kind of career arc that shows real range, moving from the finance side of the university into the academic policy side, without ever leaving the MSU system she has clearly built her professional life around.

Education

According to the official MSU Main Campus personnel page, Dimalna completed her Doctor in Management at Liceo de Cagayan University. She also holds the CPA license, a credential that would have served her well during her years managing university finances.

Notability

Longtime MSU System administrator overseeing academic policy support and major entrance examinations across Mindanao State University's campuses.

Known For

Administering the SASE, CET, and SHSEE entrance examinations, and prior financial stewardship as University Chief Cashier.

Pull Quote

"Twenty five years of quiet, steady service, keeping the gates of admission fair for thousands of students across Mindanao."

Older institutional records connect her to an MPA (Master in Public Administration) credential as well, tied to her earlier years as University Chief Cashier. Details on her undergraduate education are not available in verified sources.

Career and Public Service

Dimalna's professional life has unfolded entirely within the MSU system. Before stepping into her current academic affairs role, she served as University Chief Cashier, a period documented in older student handbooks and organizational listings under the name Hashmina M. Dimalna, CPA, MPA.

Today, she works under the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs, where her responsibilities include helping review system-wide academic policies and administrative programs. She's also closely tied to the university's admissions pipeline, assisting in the administration of three major examinations: the System Admission and Scholarship Examination (SASE), the College Entrance Test (CET), and the Senior High School Entrance Examination (SHSEE).

University communications tied to these entrance examination cycles have acknowledged her hands-on involvement, including the inspection and audit of examination materials and general logistical support, work that rarely makes headlines but matters enormously to the thousands of students who sit for these exams every year. She has also been present in community settings, including Parent-Teacher Association activities connected to local educational events in Lanao del Sur.

Leadership Roles

Dimalna's documented leadership positions within the MSU System include:

- Assistant Vice President for Academic Affairs, MSU System (current, as listed in 2025 official directories and personnel pages)
- University Chief Cashier (prior role, documented in institutional handbooks)

No other formal leadership titles, such as dean or department chair, appear in verified institutional sources.

Contributions and Achievements

What stands out about Dimalna's record is consistency rather than a single defining moment. Her documented contributions center on administrative continuity: policy-review support at the system level, oversight of the entrance examinations that determine who gets admitted across MSU's campuses, and her earlier years of financial stewardship as University Chief Cashier.

The official MSU personnel page notes her more than 25 years of service, a tenure that spans some genuinely difficult periods for the Marawi campus and the wider MSU system, which makes that long-term commitment worth noting on its own.

Legacy and Impact

As a long-serving administrator at the MSU Main Campus in Marawi, Dimalna's fingerprints are on the operational side of academic affairs, particularly the entrance examination systems that shape access to higher education for students across Mindanao. Her combined background in accounting and management gives her a practical grip on both the financial and policy sides of the Vice President for Academic Affairs office.
